A MESSAGE FROM THE AGC PAC CO-CHAIRS

AGC PAC is your political action committee—built by AGC of America to give our industry a stronger voice where it matters most: in Washington, D.C.

It's bipartisan and registered with the U.S. Federal Election Commission, allowing eligible employees of AGC member companies to pool their personal, voluntary contributions. Together, we back candidates—no matter their party—who get construction and stand up for the issues that impact our businesses, jobs, and livelihoods.

During the 2023-2024 election cycle, AGC PAC reached a historic milestone, raising a record $1.27 million. These funds helped back 230 pro-construction candidates, along with several leadership PACs and political committees. Due to retirements, resignations, and primary outcomes, 212 of these candidates ultimately appeared on the November ballot—and an impressive 92% won their races, securing seats in the 119th Congress!

AGC PAC's hard work and persistence have made it one of the most well-known and respected PACs on Capitol Hill. In fact, we're proud to say AGC PAC ranks among the top 100 trade association PACs in the nation—earning "Heavy Hitter" status from the Center for Responsive Politics.

HOW AGC PAC DECIDES WHERE TO INVEST

Over a two-year election cycle, AGC PAC receives hundreds of funding requests from AGC chapters, donors, candidates, and campaigns. With limited resources, we prioritize supporting candidates who align with AGC's legislative priorities and advocate for the construction industry.

Our focus is on candidates running for the U.S. House of Representatives and Senate. We give preference to congressional leaders and members of key committees responsible for legislation that directly impacts our industry. Candidates with ties to construction or a demonstrated understanding of the field stand out. First-time candidates and challengers who support AGC's goals are considered over incumbents whose voting records don't reflect the best interests of AGC and its members.

Before any decision is made, AGC PAC takes the time to consult with local AGC chapters in the candidate's area. We value the insight and perspective of our members on the ground, ensuring our contributions reflect the best interests of the local construction community.

The AGC PAC Board of Trustees—comprised of 19 individuals from AGC member companies, a chapter executive representative, and the PAC Treasurer—carefully reviews each request and decides how contributions are allocated.

Key factors in the decision-making process include:

- Input from local chapters and members
- A candidate's connection to or understanding of the construction industry
- AGC's congressional voting record
- Candidate interviews and questionnaires (for first-time candidates)
- Overall legislative strategy
- Election dynamics – district demographics, fundraising, polling, and past results
- Support from AGC chapters and individual members

This thorough process ensures AGC PAC's resources are strategically invested to help elect candidates to Congress who can champion policies that benefit the construction industry and AGC members.

KEY VOTES

During the 118th Congress, AGC closely monitored key bills in the U.S. Senate and House of Representatives that significantly affect the construction industry.

To gauge lawmakers' alignment with AGC's priorities, their votes on these critical legislative measures are tracked and compiled into a "score." This score reflects the extent of their support for AGC's positions and the broader interests of the construction industry.

A perfect score of 100% signifies that a legislator consistently voted in favor of AGC's stance on every key vote. Below is a list of each key vote, accompanied by a brief description highlighting its importance and potential impact on the construction industry.
